NEW ELDORADO DEAL IS ON FOR EXAMINING THE CANYON AS COPPER

Company Decides Plan of Examination of This Old Dry Canyon Mine Has Just Been Concluded. New York Expert Whose Report Settles Deal Is Now on Way to Property.

The directors of the New Eldorado Mining company, which is operating in the old Ashbrook district, in the extreme northwest corner of Box Elder county, held a business meeting at the Kenyon hotel last evening, at which a plan of campaign for the coming season was mapped out. Thomas Sherry, president of the company, was in from Grouse creek, and G. W. Morse, the Park City director, was also at the gathering. The Salt Lake directors who figure in the undertaking, with James McCue of Scranton representing their interests.

"Mining has been going on at the property all winter," said President Sherry, "and considerable ore that will average about 22 per cent lead, 10 ounces silver and $1.50 in gold has been taken out. We get values running a great deal higher than that, but the property has not yet reached a stage of development where we can handle a big tonnage of high grade. Our ground is located about five miles from the old Vipont, which has produced a great deal of rich silver ore, but which is now doing but little, pending a better market for the white metal."

Mr. Sherry is also manager of the Nonpareil company's properties in the same district. Great bodies of low grade copper ore exist in this property and a deep tunnel is now being driven to determine the permanency of the deposit. Another 200 feet of work, he says, will show the mine up at depth and stamp it as one of the big copper propositions of the west.

The Friendship is another company operating in the camp and Mr. Sherry states that it and several other propositions look exceedingly well.

"We have been running along up in that country winter, saying much for a long time," concluded Mr. Sherry, "but we are going to change our tactics now. We have one of the biggest mineral-bearing districts in this state and we propose to get money in there this year and make a showing that will cause the outside to sit up and take notice of us."

An examination of the old Kissard mining property at the head of Dry Canyon, between Stockton and Ophir, has just been completed and there is every likelihood that the property will be purchased by the American Mining, Security and Redemption company, a combination of local and eastern talent.

The Kissard is a neighbor of the famous old Mono and other mines of that section of Tooele county that were highly productive in the early history of mining in Utah, and it has a record of having produced several hundreds of thousands of dollars. The examination is said to have been a most satisfactory one and, if the deal is closed, it is going to mean a renewal of activity in the north end of the Ophir district this year.

With everything humming on Lion hill, in the south end of the Ophir district, with the Ophir Hill, Cliff and other propositions in the central portion of the district making the fur, and with the mines on the north or Dry Canyon end also claiming attention, the old camp of the Stockton mine, still to the north, and; if plans that are now incubating mature, there will be a stretch of live mining operations over there covering a distance of ten miles or more north and south, and all within easy striking distance of the railroads and smelters, and particularly the works of the International company, in the mouth of Pine canyon. It begins to look like a boom of Tooele county this year.

In response to a telegram from C. W. Wheelock, a mining engineer of New York, who has been commissioned to make an examination and report on the Delmas Copper company's properties for the eastern crowd that has an option on them, Perry D. Delmas, manager of the company, left for Paducah yesterday noon. The message asked him to bring sample sacks, etc., and the inference is that Mr. Wheelock is now confident that he can get to the property and make such surface inspection as he cares to without being bothered with snow.

Mr. Wheelock came out from New York over a month ago to conduct this examination and make investigations of some goldfield propositions for clients of his. The snow was found to be four or five feet deep at the Delmas property at that time and it was as much as the party could do to get up the canyon and back without attempting to go on the mining ground. The message of Mr. Wheelock is taken as a sign that he has finished his other work and that he has investigated enough to convince him that he can now get into the Delmas property, which is only six miles from the railroad, without trouble.

"I don't know whether it is going to be possible to see the surface of the claims or not," said Mr. Delmas before leaving, "but the tunnels are in and are still finding plenty there to interest him. Our deal hinges on the report of Mr. Wheelock and I am glad that this feature of that deal is now being worked over. I am positive that he will be able to more than confirm every representation that has been made concerning the mine. And that means that there will be something doing at the Delmas this spring, as soon as the roads will permit the hauling of heavy machinery."

TONOPAH MINING CO. POSTS DOUBLE DIVIDEND

A private dispatch from Philadelphia to one of the local shareholders in the company last evening brought the news that the directors of the Tonopah Mining company had met during the day and posted the annual quarterly dividend of $2.00 a share and an extra dividend of $2.00.

Local interests in the old Tonopah company are feeling jubilant over the manner in which the new management of the company has been making good during the past year or so.

Taking hold as it did with the company dragging along the bottom of its financial reserves, and then building up at a rate that has already permitted the distribution of $4.00 a share, besides holding back 1,000,000 ounces of silver for a day when the market looks better, is something they consider worth remembering.

Mining Stock Exchange.

Trading is widely scattered and prices maintain steady level.

There was nothing out of the ordinary doing on the exchange yesterday. Prices were generally strong and steady, and the trading was scattered over a wide range of stocks. Mason Valley quieted down a little, and Columbus Consolidated showed more activity and better prices than of late. The market is just about ripe, according to the opinions of well posted brokers, to take on a spurt that may assume proportions before it is over.

During the two regular and open board calls yesterday afternoon, 15,500 shares of stock, with a selling value of $91,751, changed hands.

Following is the list of final quotations and record of sales made during the day:

CAVE OPENED UP IN THE EUREKA LILY

A cave was encountered on the 200-foot level of the Eureka-Lily company's property at Tintic Wednesday night at a point almost directly beneath the mine where the ore was opened up on the 200 level. Word from the mine yesterday morning indicated that the cave had already reached a strong current of air that it had been impossible up to that time to keep a light burning long enough to make an examination.

It was the intention yesterday to secure lights that would not blow out and then make a thorough examination of the opening, which appeared to be quite extensive. Additionally word had been received from the mine last night, but it did not come.

BOSTON-SUNSHINE MILL READY TO RUN

Manager Wood of the Boston-Sunshine mill, as reported by McCrory & Co., that water was flowing through the pipe line from the Gold Belt Water company's main and that the opening up of the mill was under way.

While he did not give a day for the starting of the works on ore, it is believed at the local offices of the company that a start will be made not later than Monday.

Ore and Bullion.

Ore and bullion settlements in this city yesterday, as reported by McCrory & Co., amounted to $125,000, as follows: Silver, lead, gold and copper ores, $25,000; base bullion, $100,000.

Three carloads of ore from Utah mines were released from the Pioneer sampler yesterday.

Manager Tony Jacobson and Superintendent O. A. Jacobson of the Columbus Consolidated and South Columbus left for Salt Lake City yesterday morning.

Manager George St. Clair of the Lion Hill Consolidated came in from Ophir yesterday. He declared there was nothing new to report from the company's mines at this time.

Patrick Sheehan returned from Caliente yesterday. He went down to examine mining property today, but he says it was so awfully stony that nothing could be done, so he retraced his steps.

Superintendent Kellogg of the East Tintic Development company reports that he has his machinery in place. He will be ready to start the mine up before April 1.

Brig H. Young, the well known Deep Creek operator, is in from camp for a few days looking after business matters on this end of the line. He declares the country is picking up at a lively clip, and is convinced that the new railroad into that region will begin construction by the first of May.
